Pest Management For New York's Foodservice Industry

A clean, pest free commercial kitchen is the key to any restaurant or foodservice environment's success. Ensuring your diners receive a meal that has been prepared in a kitchen free of flies, cockroaches or even mice and rats is absolutely critical in order to retain them as loyal customers. Insect and rodent infestations are annoying and can lead to health risks like salmonella and when pest problems get out of control, they can damage structures and even hurt your business' image. At Assured Environments we provide effective pest management programs for restaurants and commercial kitchens in Manhattan as well as for all of New York, New Jersey and Connecticut and our integrated pest management approach guards against pest problems while minimizing the use of chemicals for foodservice environments.

- * Restaurants
- * Fast Food Chains
- * Cafes
- * Commercial Kitchens

Home Pest Control Services For The Tri-State Area

Our pest professionals are highly trained and will conduct a thorough inspection of your home and property to determine if you have pest activity like a termite colony or a carpenter ant infestation and, if so, how severe. Our home pest control services also include an initial pest control treatment to get rid of any existing pests, a maintenance program designed specifically for your home as well as recommendations and suggestions for preventing future infestations. Our pest professionals can show you numerous ways to keep pests from disrupting your home including:

- * Seal cracks and crevices where pests can get into your home.
- * Get rid of stacks of newspaper, papers, bags, and cardboard boxes that make good homes for pests
- * Keep a tight lid on trash cans and empty them often.
- * Store food in tightly sealed containers.
- * Wipe up spills and crumbs right away.
- * Clean your dirty dishes right after eating.
- * Pests thrive on moisture. Keep them from getting to water by fixing leaks and not leaving dish

Air Duct, Compactor & Chute Cleaning For NY, NJ & CT

Even though an apartment building or high-rise may look well maintained, it is often the ventilation ductwork that is neglected and can quickly become a perfect breeding area for mold, mildew, fungi and bacteria. Effective control of indoor pollutants such as cooking fumes, grease, aerosol sprays, dust, tobacco smoke, household cleaners, bacteria, viruses, animal dander, pollen and fungi relies on the fact that ventilation systems and garbage chutes are well maintained and clean. If garbage chutes and ventilation systems are neglected the results can be devastating. Assured Environments offers professional cleaning of trash chutes, hopper doors and compactor units which has been proven to help prevent:

- * Fire hazards due to grease buildup
- * Rancid odors
- * Infestation by rodents, cockroaches and other pests
- * Acidic deterioration, leading to failure of ventilation systems
- * Excessive wear on compactors and chutes
 - * Distribution of bacteria and germs throughout your building
